

Speaker's Biosketch

ICoLA 2024

Sang-Eun Lee (Ewha Womans University, Republic of Korea)

Sang-Eun Lee received her M.D. degree from Yonsei University, Seoul, Korea, in 2009, and her Ph.D. in Internal Medicine from Yonsei University, Seoul, Korea, in 2017. From 2017 to 2018, she was a visiting scholar at the Cedars-Sinai Biomedical Imaging Research Institute in Los Angeles, USA. Since 2019, she has been a Clinical Assistant Professor at Ewha Womans University Seoul Hospital, Seoul, Korea. Her main research interests focus on cardiac imaging using multimodal approaches, including cardiac CT and MRI. She received the 2019 Young Author Achievement Award from the American College of Cardiology for her research.