

Speaker's Biosketch

ICoLA 2024

Jang Hoon Lee (Kyungpook National University, Republic of Korea)

Dr. Jang Hoon Lee is a professor of cardiology in the Kyungpook National University Hospital, the South Korea, with a particular focus on interventional cardiology and myocardial infarction. He obtained Doctor of Medicine Science in Kyungpook National University. He studied wire-based invasive coronary physiology in Stanford Medical Center as a visiting scholar. He is a member of Korean Medical Association, Korean Association of Internal Medicine, Korean Society of Circulation, Korean Society of Interventional Cardiology, Korean Society of Hypertension, Korean Society of Lipid and Atherosclerosis, and Korea Society of Myocardial Infarction. He published a lot of papers regarding acute myocardial infarction, coronary physiology, and interventional cardiology. He is the director of the Cardiovascular Center at the Regional Cardiovascular Disease Center.